School started again, and soon the ink(墨水)in Tom's spelling book was found. Tom said he hadn't split the ink, but that made it look as if he were lying. Becky almost said Alfred Temple had done it, but she kept quiet. She thought that Tom would tell the teacher about her tearing(撕)his book, so she didn't save him. Mr. bobbins beat him and then Tom went back to his seat.

After an hour Mr. bobbins unlocked his desk and took out his book. Tom looked over at Becky

She looked like a hunted and helpless rabbit. The next moment the master faced the children. There was a long silence, then he spoke, "Who tore this book?"

There wasn't a sound. The teacher searched their faces.

"Benjamin Rogers, did you do it?"

Benjamin said no.

"Joseph Harper, did you?"

Joseph also said no. bobbins looked at the rows of boys, thought for a moment, then turned to the girls.

"Amy Lawrence?"

A shake of the head.

"Gracie Miller?"

The same sign.

Becky was next. Tom was shaking from head to foot.

"Rebecca Thatcher?" — (Tom looked at her face: it was white with terror) — "did you tear?—no, look at my face — did you tear this book?"

Tom jumped to his feet and shouted, "I did it!"

The children stared(盯着)in surprise at his foolish act.

And when he stepped forward for his punishment, he saw the surprise, the thanks, and the love that came from Becky's eyes. This was enough for one hundred beatings. And he didn't even mind staying for two hours after school, because he knew that Becky was waiting for him outside.

Tom went to bed that night planning some actions on Alfred Temple, for Becky had told him everything. And he fell asleep with Becky's last words to him in his ear, "Tom, you are so great."

44. How did Becky feel when the teacher took out of the book?

- A. Afraid.                      B. Happy                      C. Angry.                      D. Excited.

45. What does the underlined word "This" in the passage mean?

- A. Becky's eyesight.                      B. The teacher's punishment.
C. Becky's surprise, thanks and love.                      D. The classmates' surprise.

46. Which is the right order of what happened in the story?

On 30 October 2018, the Chinese-speaking world lost a literary(文学的)giant-Louis Cha Leung-yang(查良镛),who was known by his pen name, Jin Yong. The great writer died in Hong Kong at the age of 94 after a long illness.

In 1955, Jin published his first wuxia novel, The Book And the Sword 《书剑恩仇录》. The novel was a great success.

Then Jin went on to write 14 hugely popular wuxia novels, ending with The Deer and the Cauldron 《鹿鼎记》 in 1972. In these novels, Jin successfully created an imagined world of jianghu and also some of the most well-known characters in the history of Chinese literature, including Guo Jing, Wei Xiaobao and Ling Huchong. Jin Yong also used some stories from history and traditional Chinese culture to make this imagined world. Jin was considered as one of the greatest wuxia novelists with over 300 million copies in book sales. His books have been translated into many languages, including English, French, Korean, Japanese, Vietnamese, and Thai.

Just as the saying goes, "Wherever there are Chinese, you will find Jin Yong's novels." Jin Yong has won the hearts of many, from primary school students to university professors, from national leader Deng Xiaoping to billionaire(亿万富翁)Jack Ma. He touched many people not only through his books, but also through films, TV shows, comics, and video games.

When news broke that Jin died, the whole world felt shocked. Jack Ma, a lifelong lover of wuxia said, "It's a huge loss for Chinese people around the world. And it's especially sad for us as Jin's wuxia spirit has become a core value of Alibaba." Ma said. Many of his employees(雇工)gave themselves nicknames(绰号)drawn from characters in Jin's novels. Many stars at home and abroad, including Andy Lau, Jordan Chan and Bollywood actor Aamir Khan, also shared their grief at the news of Cha's death.

48. From the passage we can know that Jin Yong wrote about _____ novels in his lifetime.

- A. 14                      B. 15                      C. 16                      D. 20

49. Deng Xiaoping and Jack Ma are mentioned in the passage to show that _____.

- A. a great number of people loved Jin Yong's novels
B. Jin Yong only won the hearts of many famous people
C. Jin Yong used to be a diplomat and knew many famous people
D. Jack Ma introduced Jin Yong to the employees of Alibaba

50. The underlined word "grief" in the passage may mean _____.

- A. great happiness                      B. great sadness
C. great interest                      D. great excitement

51. From the passage we can know that _____.

- A. many employees in Alibaba are fans of Jin Yong's novels
B. Jin Yong once worked for Alibaba and gave people some nicknames
C. Jin Yong's works were translated into more than 15 languages
D. Jin Yong created an imagined world jianghu for Alibaba

Hello and welcome to "Words and Their Stories". We will research into some commonly used words and expressions. As with other languages, American English is rich in expressions that come from animals. Today we will talk about the wolf.

Wolves are important animals in the traditions and stories of America. Before the European arrived at North America in the 1500s, to native Americans, wolves often meant being brave.

However, in English, wolves are not to be trusted. Perhaps wolves attacked too many people or ate too many farm animals. Whatever the reason, wolves were killed in many places. So many died that they almost became endangered. They also became known as bad animals.

To begin with, there is an expression "lone wolf". If we call somebody a lone wolf, he isn't a bad person, but he may like to do things by himself. In fact, he sometimes makes you think he doesn't want to be around people because he dislikes them.

Now, let's move on to the home. Parents tell their children not to "wolf down" their food. In other words, the child eats too quickly and without care. And if someone says a child was "raised by wolves", that child has bad manners and is behaving like a wild animal.

A "wolf call" is the noise made by a man to show that he likes the way a woman looks. But a wolf call is not a nice thing. These men sound rude. And trust me, most women really hate wolf calls. So, they don't help a man in the game of love.

By the way, there is a popular expression about wolf from a very old story: a wolf in sheep's clothing. A wolf in sheep's clothing describes someone who acts and looks nice on the outside but is bad on the inside. It tells us not to be fooled by appearances.

52. What can we know after reading the passage?

- A. Wolves are dangerous and should be killed in order to protect other animals.
- B. We can expect to find expressions about wolves only in American English.
- C. In different areas and times, wolves make people think of different things.
- D. Nobody lived in North America before the Europeans went there in the 1500s.

53. If a person is called "a lone wolf", which of the following things would he probably do?

- A. Helping classmates to finish homework.
- B. Using others' computer if nobody is watching.
- C. Making many friends with people around.
- D. Going to see a movie on his own after school.

54. Which of the following expressions can be used on a student who often breaks school rules?

- A. A lone wolf.
- B. Raised by wolves.
- C. Wolf call.
- D. A wolf in sheep's clothing.

55. Where is it possible for us to find the passage?

- A. A book for travel guide.
- B. A magazine on trade and business.
- C. A science report.
- D. A program for English learning.

八、阅读表达(共 3 小题, 满分 6 分)

Baozi is one of the common Chinese foods for breakfast. Who would have thought that this simple meal would become a leading character in a film, and even win an Oscar?

On February 24, 2019, the short film Baozi won the Oscar for Best Animated Short Film. In the film, a small baozi comes to life and becomes the "son" of a lonely Chinese woman in an immigrant(移民) family in Canada.

Domee Shi, Pixar's first Chinese-Canadian woman director, got the idea from her own experience. When Shi grew up, she was busy working and spent little time with her mother.

Baozi tells the life of an empty-nest Chinese Canadian mother who feels lonely after her son leaves home to go for his own life.

In the film, many details show the way the Chinese woman loves her "son". She prepares delicious food, cleans up the house carefully and always buys him snacks. These details are true to the strong and protective love of Chinese parents for their children.

Traditionally, Chinese parents don't say 'I love you' to their kids. They express it with food or by fussing(小题大做)over them. "I didn't use dialogue in the film because I wanted it to be a story that spoke to everyone around the world." said Shi at an interview.

Moreover, this film can be a bridge to help parents and children better understand each other and learn how to express love.

80. Who is Domee Shi?

81. What details show the way the Chinese woman loves her "son" in the film?

82. Do you think it's necessary and important to say 'I love you' to your parents? Why or Why not?

九、My Hero And I

After learning the English text books of Junior Three, I'm lucky to get to know many famous people in different fields, among whom Spud Webb has impressed me most.

He is one of the greatest basketball players in the world. Spud Webb was much shorter than the other kids at school. He was small, but he had a big dream — he wanted to play in the NBA.

Through hard work, Spud Webb proved that size and body type do not matter and finally "the little potato" made his dream come true.

I really admire the precious spirit "Never give up" he showed us all. Now I know that we must insist on what we (should) do no matter what kinds of difficulties we will face.
