Never give up! That is one lesson I learned when I was very young.

At the age of four, not knowing a single word of 16, I started school. I felt 17 because I couldn't talk to other kids. Maybe I was 18 because I didn't know how to talk with others. I only know Spanish, and English is just a mixture of 19. When the teacher spoke English, the 20 became faster and faster and then became a tornado (龙卷风) ripping through my mind. I couldn't 21. I got so confused(困惑) and I didn't know what to do. I sometimes felt like crying, but I kept telling myself never to 22.

I started to learn English hard. At the end of the year, I could understand, read, speak and write English. The next year I 23 my friend Jack. It was his first year of school and he didn't 24 English like me in the beginning, so I started to 25 him this difficult language. At first it was very 26, but at last he was interested in English and picked it up quickly. We 27 learning more and more every year, and now we are both very good English 28.

I also began to teach my younger sisters since I didn't want them to feel isolated (孤立的) and shy as I did.

This year I am in the eighth grade and have got straight A's in every class since kindergarten. My 29? I never give up. Now I am learning Japanese. It may be a little 30, but I will keep on learning it. No matter how hard something is, I never give up. I keep trying until I do it right.

Nothing is difficult in the world if you put your heart into it.

三、阅读理解（本题共 50 小题;每小题 2 分，满分 20 分）

When Tom brought his lunch to her table. Cindy was unhappy. "Your friends are over there. "she said, pointing to the other side of the dining hall.

"I would sit here today. "Tom replied. He cut a piece of pizza. Took a mouthful of it and looked around the dining hall.

"So, what's new? "Tom asked. Cindy said nothing, pretending（假装）that she hadn't heard him. "Look, Cindy. I'm sorry. "Tom said. "I was just joking about your shoes. "

"I can't believe you said that in front of everyone. "Cindy said. Anger rose inside her. But she kept control of（一直控制）herself. "My mum bought me those shoes because she thought I would like them. Now everyone is going to call me 'Sparkle Toes' forever. "She put her laces（鞋带）. "I thought we were friends, "she said, looking down.

"We are friends," Tom said. "I was just trying to be funny. What can I do to stop you being angry?" Finally Cindy realized (意识到) that Tom was serious. She had an idea. She began to untie (解开) her laces. "Give me your laces. You wear mine," she said. Then she had a look at the second piece of pizza on Tom's plate. "And give me your other piece of pizza. Then we'll be even."

Tom smiled, "That seems fair (公平的)." he said. Pushing his plate toward Cindy with one hand and reaching down to untie his laces with the other.

() 31. Why did Tom sit at Cindy's table? _____

- A. Because he wanted to share his pizza.
- B. Because he wanted to say sorry to Cindy.
- C. Because he was interested in Cindy's shoes.
- D. Because he couldn't find anywhere else to sit.

() 32. What's the underlined word "even" mean in Chinese? _____

- A. 扯平的
- B. 清楚的
- C. 均等的
- D. 平衡的

() 33. How might Tom feel at the end of the story? _____

- A. Nervous
- B. Excited
- C. Comfortable
- D. Sorry

(B)

When I was a little child, my mom liked to make breakfast food for dinner every now and then. And I remember one night she made breakfast after a long hard day at work.

That evening, my mom placed a plate of eggs, sausage and extremely burned (完全烤焦的) cookies in front of my dad. I remembered waiting to see if anyone would say anything. Yet all my dad did was to reach for his cookie, smile at my mom if anyone would say anything. Yet all my dad did was to reach for his cookie, smile at my mom and ask me how my day was at school. I didn't remember what I told him that night. But I do remember watching him eat bite of that cookie!

When I got up from the table that evening, I remember hearing my mom apologize (道歉) to my dad for burning the cookies. And I'll never forget what he said: "Dear, I love burned cookies."

Late that night, I went to kiss Dad goodnight. And I asked him if he really did like his cookies burned. He embraced (拥抱) me and said: "Your mom had a hard day at work today, and she's very tired. Besides, a little burned cookie never hurt anyone!"

Life is full of imperfect (不完美的) things and imperfect people. We need to learn to accept each other's faults (错误) and celebrate each other's differences.

()34. After the mom made dinner one night, the writer _____ .

- A. showed no interest in the cookies his mom made
- B. was so hungry that he couldn't wait to eat all the food
- C. waited to see if his dad noticed the burned cookies
- D. talked about the fun things at school with his dad

()35. From Paragraphs 3-4, we can tell that the writer's dad _____ .

- A. was deeply (深刻) in love with his mother
- B. was very busy during the daytime
- C. liked eating cookies very much
- D. liked making dinner for his family

()36. What can learn from the story? _____

- A. Never hurt those who love you.
- B. Be thankful (感激了) for what you have today.
- C. Learn to be understanding.
- D. Think twice before making a decision (决定) .

(C)

According to an American Indian legend(传说), the Great Spirit made the world. He made the land and the sky, the mountains and hills first. Next he created (创造) the lakes, the rivers and the sea. Then, to make the world green and beautiful, he made trees and flowers. Later the Great Spirit made many different animals. Some of them lived on the land and some lived in the water. But he didn't make any birds.

When the cold days came, the leaves on the trees turned yellow or brown and fell down from the trees. The animals on the land spent most of the time in the holes and the sea animals always stayed under the water. The whole world became stiller than before. It made the Great Spirit bored.

Then the Great Spirit had an idea. He put out his hands. The leaves didn't fall down to the ground. Instead, they became little birds. But the Great Spirit was still not happy. The birds were with him, but the world silent (寂静的), too. The Great Spirit put out his hands again. At once every little bird had a voice. They could sing beautifully and the world was not silent any more. The Great Spirit was happy because the birds would stay with him all through the winter.

()37. What does the underlined word "stiller" mean in Paragraph 2? _____

- A. louder
- B. more silent
- C. noisier
- D. clearer

()38. What is the main idea of the passage? _____

- A. Who created the whole world.
- B. How the birds were created.
- C. Why the Great Spirit created animals.
- D. What season the Great Spirit liked best.

Have you ever thought about how you answer a compliment (恭维)? I didn't see the cultural differences of a compliment until I moved to Beijing from the US about four months ago.

From my personal experience, it's usually polite to say thank you, smile, change the subject or give that person a compliment too. I found this is not usually the way people accept (接受) a compliment in China.

I've seen that Chinese are very humble (谦虚的) when receiving a compliment. In China, people might say a quick thank, disagree with the compliment or even belittle (轻视) themselves.

One example of this is speaking the Chinese or English language. I'm trying to learn Chinese, and I'm honestly not good. However, sometimes when I say a simple word like "thank you" in Chinese, people tell me my Chinese is so good! This seems very silly to me because xiexie is usually the second phrase people learn.

From the other point of view, a Chinese person may even start a conversation by saying their English is very poor. After having a full conversation, I tell them with honesty their English is quite good. They will not accept the compliment, yet their English is much better than my Chinese!

Overall, I think it's important to have a balance when accepting a compliment. It's good to be Humble, but it's also okay to appreciate (欢迎) it at the same time.

()39. Which of the following is NOT usually a way to answer a compliment in the US? _____

- A. Say thank you. B. Show a smiling face.
- C. Change the subject. D. Ignore (忽视) the compliment.

()40. What is the writer's attitude towards answering a compliment? _____

- A. It's important to accept a compliment.
- B. Be humble as well as enjoy it.
- C. Take every compliment naturally.
- D. It's silly (傻的) to pay somebody a compliment.

阅读下面的短文, 然后用英语回答问题。

Life is like the four seasons. Now I am very old, but when I was young, it was the spring of my life. After I was born, I played a lot, and then I started school. I learned many new things. Like a flower, I grew bigger every day. There were happy days and sad days: some days the sun shone, and some days it didn't.

In my twenties, I had a good job. I was strong and happy. Then I got married and had a child. In those days, I didn't have much time to think. Every day I was busy and worked very hard. And so, I started to get some white hair. The summer of my life passed quickly.

Then the days got shorter. Leaves fell from the trees. My child was a university student, and then an engineer. My home was much quieter. I started to walk more slowly. One day I stopped working. I had more time. I understood this was my autumn, a beautiful time when the trees change the colour and give us delicious fruit. But the days kept getting shorter and colder. Winter has come. I am older and weaker. I know I do not have many days left, but I will enjoy them to the end.

62. What could the writer do in the spring of his life?

63. In what season did the writer start to walk more slowly in his life?

64. Do you think life's seasons are the same for everyone? Why or why not?

My favorite season

My favourite season is Spring. As an old saying goes, A year's plan starts with Spring. Spring is the start of a year. In the Spring, birds sing, flowers are in full bloom, trees turn to green, butterflies dance, and everything is going to show their energy again from a cold winter. The temperature is around 10 degree to 20 degree, it's warm and very comfortable. People needn't wear so many clothes. it sometimes rains. For the activities, we can fly a kite, plant trees and so on.

Spring is the most important season in one year, So I like it best.
