DeepSeek is a smart AI robot. Many people like it because it can write many things: letters, emails, stories and even jokes. It also answers questions like "How to make beef noodles?" or "What should we bring when we go boating?" It answers very fast.

DeepSeek helps people do new things. But DeepSeek sometimes gives wrong answers because it doesn't know if the information it learned is true. Another problem is that people might (可能) use DeepSeek in wrong ways. For example, a 14-year-old boy used it to do homework instead of thinking by himself. A Chinese girl, Yang Ling, said, "It can help me fix my writing, but we shouldn't use it for doing homework, or we won't learn anything."

DeepSeek is useful and helps people in many ways. But we should know its problems and use it wisely (明智地) to make life better.
