We all think that babies are cute and we all know that they need someone to take care of them. What else do you know about them? You will be surprised to know babies have some amazing abilities (能力) that you can only dream of. Here are some amazing things you may want to know.

First of all, babies can sleep anytime and anywhere. Sometimes, they even can sleep when they are having their lunch. Sometimes, you may find them sleeping on the cold floor in your bathroom.

Second, babies have two times more taste buds (味蕾) than us, so they can feel some small changes in taste even before their birth.

Third, babies can dive and swim without learning till around 6 months old. They can swim with their mouth and eyes open under the water!

Fourth, babies can eat as much as they want without getting fat. They have something called "brown fat" and it can burn calories very quickly. They have a lot of it, too. It even makes up about 5% of a baby's weight.

Babies can also see things clearly. Believe it or not! They can tell the differences (差异) between two faces of monkeys. But we lose this ability little by little when we grow old. Now, we sometimes can't even tell the differences between two western persons.

Are you feeling a little jealous (嫉妒的) of babies right now? You are not alone. Even scientists are so jealous of babies that they are trying to find a way to get these abilities into adults. However, these special abilities are for babies only.
